The learned Assistant Attorney General, at the very outset, has informed that the Tribunal has become functional. The learned counsel for the petitioner, taking a fair stance, has stated that the petitioner would be satisfied if the petition is disposed-of by directing the learned Tribunal to decide the appeal at the earliest. It is noted that the Customs Act, 1969 has prescribed time frame for deciding an appeal. This Court expects that the learned Tribunal will decide the appeal having regard to the time frame prescribed in the statute.

2. In the light of the above, the instant petition, therefore, stands disposed of.
